

Unadulterated luxury! No one can help imagining a lazy afternoon spent dangling a foot in water, reading a book and sipping ice cold rosé.

Spectacular water features and pools, framing views on to the Quinta do Lago golf course. Watching swimmers from inside the house is always amusing, particularly if it is from a wine cellar, a gym or a cinema room.....your choice.

Away from the glamour of Quinta do Lago and Vale do Lobo, the preservation of ancient and beautiful trees, set in traditional Portuguese calcada (cobblestones) brings an instant sense of calm to a contemporary and understated design.

ARCHITECTURE JUTTA HOEHN

A fabulous pair of antique doors, made of brass and with silver inlay, were sourced in Marrakech and brought to Quinta do Lago to provide an extraordinary entrance to an ultra modern villa. What could be an incongruous juxtaposition of a piece which is several centuries old with twenty first century design, provides not only a unique talking point, but also illustrates that quality is timeless.

Jutta Hoehn is the creative mind behind JSH Algarve, the innovative architectural studio leading the way in bespoke design across Portugal. Jutta was born and raised in the lovely Spa town of Wiesbaden, which is famed for its beauty and architecture and where her family vineyard still produces some of the finest Riesling in Germany. Jutta's exposure to the renowned buildings of Wiesbaden ignited an early passion for design and architecture at a young age which she has continued to nurture and develop.

The ultimate in inside/outside living. Separate areas to escape to when there is a big house party or even different generations holidaying together.

Her education at the University of Mainz and swift inauguration as a Member of the Institute of German Architects equipped Jutta with the knowledge and skill to channel her passion into a successful career. Jutta is a member of both the Institute of Portuguese Architects and of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

Jutta now runs her own practice, JSH Algarve, an innovative studio in the Algarve, with a team of twelve professionals. The company specialise in developing bespoke, luxury private homes, located predominately in the "Golden Triangle" which includes Quinta do Lago and Vale do Lobo. In addition, Jutta works for a wide range of clients from the U.K, Ireland, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Germany and the USA.

The location of this beautiful plot is right behind Vale do Lobo, on an almost 2 hectare site. The ruin was on an agricultural reservation, which is highly restricted.

The size can be more than 300m², including terraces and a swimming pool. We are not allowed to increase any volume and had to keep the facade of the old building, for example. As well, the original ruin was just three separate buildings.

The ruins were connected using ultra-modern glass boxes that you can see, for example, the old origin ruin through the glass. Or floating bridges in the mirror. Each room has a different view of the nature surrounding nature, unlike a typical villa, all focussing on the pool area.

The concrete porticos are framing the building on the site to keep the garden around the villa kind of landscaped and around it (as it is so big) having a natural landscape.

The house has four suites, living, dining, snug, and a kitchen herb garden behind the kitchen.
